SA Officers Meet, Plan New School Year

Upperclassmen Direct Association; Each Class Represented by Two

Four seniors will lead in Student Association activities during the 1966-67 school year. Elected by the student body last spring were David Smith, president; Linda Byrd, vice president; Sherry Balthrop, secretary; and Mike Moore, treasurer.

Smith, who looks forward to a good year with a good Council which he says is "loaded with experience and talent," is a chemistry major from Ashdown, Ark. He served his class as junior representative to the S.A. and as sophomore class president.

Linda, who calls herself David's "right hand man," is continuing her work as an officer but in a different capacity. She was last year's secretary but is now vice president and also served as sophomore representative. A social science major from Little Rock, she is a member of the A Cappella Chorus, the American Studies group, and Alpha Chi honor society. She was also named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Serving as the secretary and keeper of the minutes in spite of problems with typing and shorthand is Sherry Balthrop, an English major from Ft. Worth, Tex. She is a member of Belles and Beaux performing group and Alpha Chi honor society. She was also named to Who's Who.

Handling the strings to the moneybags — very thriftily, according to the council members — is Mike Moore. A Bible major from Springfield, Mo., he is a member of TNT social club and Timothy Club. He served his class as freshman representative to the S.A.

These four leaders are backed and assisted by two representatives from each class. These are seniors J. Ray Toland, Mangum, Okla., and Barbara Neely, Vandalia, Ohio; juniors Bill Howard, Montgomery, Ala., and Helen Howell, Manila, Ark.; and sophomores David Young, Kingman, Kan., and Mary Beth Parks, Coldwater, Miss. Freshman representatives will be chosen by election early in the school year.

President Smith notes the talents and potential of this group as well as the good attitude, great enthusiasm and sense of responsibility each possesses. Plans for the year will include extension and improvement of projects begun in the past and new ideas and surprises.

Smith Announces Cabinet Members

Members of the Cabinet of the 1966-67 Student Association were named by President David Smith, after selection by council officers during the summer months.

Each of the ten members is in charge of an aspect of association activity. They are Jake Vincent, Russell, Iowa, religious affairs chairman; Jim Anderson, Watertown, S. Dak., projects chairman; Connie Taylor, Diamond, Mo., social affairs chairman; Charlotte Humphries, Memphis, Tenn., off-campus activities chairman; Don Johnson, Shreveport, La., academic affairs chairman.

Others are John Black, Dallas, Tex., elections chairman; Karen Cronin, Denver, Colo., advertising chairman; Jean Lewis, Shreveport, La., and Diane Davis, Kennett, Mo., secretaries; and Kyle Smock, Moline, Ill., campus movies chairman.

Cabinet members meet with the council individually when their particular function is needed. Each plans and makes arrangements for necessary activities concerning his post. The cabinet serves to make the SA more efficient.

Group Makes 'Great' Tour

By Linda Schmidt

Entertaining appreciative servicemen is just plain wonderful! The first word in the English language that we use to describe our USO-AETA tour of the Northeast Command is "great" — then we supplement it with "wonderful" — "marvelous" — "tremendous."

When we left Harding on May 11 to fly from Little Rock to New York then to points still unknown we were somewhat apprehensive of what we would find and how we would be received. But any fears we entertained proved to be groundless. The treatment we received was nothing short of royal from the time we touched ground in Thule, Greenland, and heard, "I don't know who they are, but they're pretty!" until we finally got back to Searcy on June 20.

Rewards

The most rewarding part of the tour was bringing happiness to some very lonely, very delightful servicemen. The majority of the men in the Northeast (Greenland, Labrador, Newfoundland and Iceland) are young and without family and friends for several months. The chance to see someone from the "world" (their term for the States) and to talk to people like themselves is a rare treat.

They proved to be the most appreciative audiences we had ever had — from the 20 men we entertained at a little Coast Guard outpost called Cape Atholl, Greenland, to the 750 man audience in the Polar Club at Keflavik, Iceland. They were generous with their praise including several standing ovations and their expressions of appreciation just made you feel warm all over.

Friendliest Group

It's hard to describe how good it makes you feel when men you met write to say that the Harding Collegiate Players were by far the friendliest group they've met, or as one Captain wrote — "We have had several USO groups in since you left, but none of them have compared to the 'Harding Kids,' either in their performances or their warm personalities. You really gave this base a real lift and we will never forget you . . . Give my best to all the kids, we really miss you"; or, from a man at SAC — "The actions and behavior of your students helped to re-affirm my faith in the teen-agers of today. How refreshing it would be if upon opening the next issue of a national magazine or newspaper, I would be confronted with an article, not about the usual 'de-linquicism' of the minority of teen-agers, but an article about a wonderful group of students from Harding College who, in their own little way, have unselfishly devoted their time and energies for the benefit of their country."

Worth Hard Work

It makes all the hours of hard work worth it — and also makes you realize that the preparation that made the tour so wonderful goes back far beyond the four months before departure; it includes all our training in Christian principles and love because this was what they liked so much. We frequently heard, "it's so refreshing to have a clean show" — and we were thankful we could give them both clean entertainment and an interested heart.

These men were almost as anxious to entertain us as they were to be entertained — here's where the red carpet treatment came in. Steak dinners, Navy bands, tours, free calls home, tugboat and dog sledding were just a few of the ways they did everything they could for us.

Our first stop was Thule, Greenland — their letterhead says "The Top of the World" — and it's literally true. This is the northernmost US military

'Melon Party Hosted by SA Finishes Week

Tonight's S.A. Watermelon Party at Academy Field behind the Field House will climax the week of activities planned for the student body — especially new students — by the Student Association.

The evening, highlighted, of course, by the importing of 100 watermelons, will provide entertainment for everyone to help forget about the first day of classes which will logically lead to many more. Hank McDaniel will emcee the program, and Gary Kelley will arrange for other entertainment.

Activities of the S.A. throughout the week have included mixers for freshmen and transfers, an information booth for confused newcomers, refreshments in registration line and "bellhops" to help move the interminable amount of luggage most girls have.

The Student Association Council met September 1 to begin the Pre-School Conference for planning not only the first week activities but to discuss many special plans for the year.

Virgil T. Bentley Holds Fall Meeting

Virgil T. Bentley of Oklahoma City is holding the annual fall meeting of the College Church of Christ this week.

Minister of the Mayfair Church of Christ, Bentley is an alumnus of Harding College. He had preached in North Carolina, Texas and other congregations in Oklahoma before going to Oklahoma City in 1957.

Subjects for the remaining services of the eight-day meeting include "Life at its Best," "The Church as it Was Meant to Be" and "Love Never Fails."

Two services will be held each evening at 5:30 and at 7:00 p.m. and at the four regularly scheduled times on Sunday. College students are encouraged to attend the earlier service.

Anyone interested in working on the Bison staff during the 1966-67 school year is invited to a general organizational meeting Monday, September 12, at 7 p.m. in the Bison office, second floor of the student center.

AND THEN THERE WERE THE LINES. This was a typical sight to any student registering at Harding this week. A record enrollment shows in many ways.

MEANWHILE, THE FRESHMEN . . . Freshmen spent the week testing everything testable — including physical fitness. A freshman boy demonstrates running ability.

BY THE TIME YOU GET THIS FAR in line, you don't much care anymore. Upperclassmen braved lines Wednesday afternoon but by finishing time they felt the effects.

Bison Editorial Policy Set Forth

The editorial policy of a newspaper does not always change with a change in staff. Because of such a situation, the policy set forth by last year's editor Dennis Organ will be repeated in this issue of The Bison.

"Our newspaper represents perhaps a rare position among college publications, and it is important that Harding students understand the principles upon which our policies are founded.

"The most significant thing for students to realize is that the publisher of The Bison is Harding College. Every newspaper must reflect the policies of its publisher; in producing The Bison, the editorial staff is quite logically expected to stay in line with Harding's policies.

"But one cannot say that The Bison is not a student newspaper, because it is produced and financed almost wholly by the efforts of students. It is not, however, a tool which the student body can use to work against the administration and faculty.

Christian Principles Involved

"In reflecting the policies of Harding, one must realize that the greatest foundation of the college is her Christian principles. If Christian principles play a part in the editing of The Bison it will not become a scandal sheet or an open battleground on which to argue petty personal differences.

"The staff will use discretion in choosing material it feels is worthy for public appraisal, and will not allow itself to be pressured into accommodating small controversial groups.

Contributions Welcomed

"All this does not mean, however, that we will not welcome worth-while discussions. We intend to present as well as we can an accurate and interesting portrayal of the news and views which affect the college.

"All contributions, including letters, will be considered for publication. Final decisions will be made on the basis of appropriateness, quality and relation to the policies of the paper.

An Instrument of the College

"In short, The Bison is an instrument of Harding College. In addition to reporting the news of the campus, in its publications it is expected to reflect the fundamental principles of the college, the foremost of which are of a religious nature."

Responsibilities of College Seniors Include Civic Privilege of Voting

Becoming a college senior carries many responsibilities. The seniors, as the ranking undergraduate students, are expected to assume a leading position in student affairs. They are expected to be active in directing the student government. Theirs is a great responsibility.

They also have a great responsibility to the government of their country and state. It is their job to choose their leaders. Most seniors are 21 years old and so are qualified to vote. Voting is a great responsibility, but it also is a great privilege.

A country can fall if its citizens do not vote. Those who would enslave a country find their work the easiest where the population is apathetic. Or they can reach their goals fairly easily where the populace, though not apathetic, is afraid to vote.

A thinking voter who casts an independent ballot is a major stumbling block in tyranny's path. One who shirks his duty is much less of a barrier. Although his government affects him in many ways, he doesn't care enough to participate in its direction.

So, if you're 21, register and vote. Vote absentee in your home state or register in Arkansas. Out-of-state students can register in Arkansas if they were at Harding last year. Those who have been here at least one school year meet the state residency requirement of one year and the county requirement of six months.

The gubernatorial election in Arkansas will be crucial. Registration for it closes October 19.

Vote in it or vote in your home state, but vote! Your ballot will show that you care. — D. J.

Experiment

The Gift of Perception

BY DAVID YOUNG

Whether he is a confused freshman, a sophomore struggling to produce a good column or a senior in his last year at this institution, the use of the gift of perception is as valuable to the Harding College student as it is to the nuclear physicist. Before the nuclear physicist formulates clear concepts of his subject matter he must first clearly perceive the phenomena associated with it. Similarly, the effort to live a meaningful life begins with a clear visualization of one's total environment. One's success as an individual takes a giant stride forward when he makes good use of his perceptive powers.

When confronted with problems throughout the coming year, one must adequately understand their nature before a satisfactory solution can be found. Among other things this involves a conscious and conscientious effort to perceive, a vision uninhibited by prejudice and at times a search for aid among one's comrades. Much of a problem is solved when it is seen in its correct setting.

More Valuable Use

All too often the above reiteration of the problem-perception relationship is stressed, and a more valuable use of perceiving is neglected.

Visualizing the non-problematic aspects of one's environment yields life's richest experiences — experiences such as being acutely aware of the value of friends instead of surrounding oneself with a shell of superficial acquaintances, feeling the joy of knowledge gained and used well rather than the misery of emptiness after just making a grade, and grasping the full meaning of companionship with God rather than conducting a futile search in the void of "the hollow men."

Advantage Dependent

The degree of advantage gained from perception is dependent on both the value of the thing to be perceived and the opportunity for perceiving. Surely the value of the positive concepts mentioned above cannot be questioned, and the opportunity to capture and incorporate them into his life is amply supplied to every Harding College student. Indeed, these are three reasons for the existence of this college — to give each student a better chance than he would otherwise have to find wonderful friends, to feed his intellect and to come to know the joy of the Christian life.

Harding College is the place to find that "friend that sticks closer than a brother." Friendships are easily established in Harding's congenial atmosphere, and solidify through the abundance of shared experiences in the time spent at this institution. Working together in social clubs and other organizations on campus serves to strengthen friendships.

Common Interests

A diversified student body supplies friends who share common interests. Living in the same room or suite with an individual for a prolonged period of time enables friends to become thoroughly acquainted. Surely the apex of all friendships exists at Harding — the bond of love for a friend who is a brother or

SA Leader Writes Letter

Dear Fellow Students,

Yes, I too am glad this week is about over. Although I always enjoy making new friends and renewing old acquaintances, it is certainly good to get down to business again.

The Harding that you and I have entered this year is not the same Harding that it was last year. Changes in the faculty, housing, curriculum, and especially in members of the student body are all quite evident. But the goals and ideals of Harding remain the same. It is because of these that Harding is something a little special in the field of education.

Harding is different from most other schools because her normal curriculum is accompanied by the teaching of Christian principles and has its setting in a Christian environment. Harding is unique because of her purpose — to build "better Christians and better citizens."

To meet these goals, however, demands that Harding be a well-rounded institution, i.e., she must strive to build physically, socially, mentally and spiritually sound individuals. But to be "better" as her motto suggests, she must rise above mediocrity and excel in each of her fields of endeavor.

There is great excitement on our campus as all things seem to be ready for a banner year of successes in our spiritual, academic and co-curricular undertakings. We take pride in our past achievements, but with many outstanding students having graduated, it is now time for us, a new generation, to take the lead.

With a record enrollment, never before has so much talent been assembled on our campus. Consequently, one of the greatest challenges that we have is to make sure that the majority of this talent is utilized, and that little is wasted. This is imperative if we are to remain outstanding and press on to greater excellence.

Harding is composed of individuals, and she can excel no more than each member excels. Therefore, the challenges and responsibilities of Harding come to us, the student body. Harding needs each of us and she needs us at our best.

To do our best, we must begin now to set new goals and to set them high. Let us all "hitch our wagon to a star," and then let us take our place and pull together.

David Smith
Student Association President

New Buildings Show Progress

By Linda Huddleston

Is your room somewhat crowded? Were the classes you met today overflowing? If so, you have shared the growing pains of a rapidly expanding college.

One of the most conspicuous signs of Harding's progress is the building program. Since the enrollment has increased 40 per cent in only two years, the school has plunged into a frenzy of construction to accommodate the influx of students as quickly as possible.

Already completed is one wing of a new men's dormitory, and the second wing is under construction. This three-story, air-conditioned building will house 210 men. The cost of this structure is expected to reach the $500,000 mark. Included in the building will be a structural system adequate to support three more stories perhaps to be added in the future.

Science Building to Open

To be opened this spring is a million-dollar science building covering most of the block north of the academy building. This well-equipped building will contain the research department, all the science laboratories, several classrooms, a lecture hall, and many offices. A unique feature of this building is the system of underground tunnels corresponding to the corridors of the main story. The tunnels meet the requirements of a fallout shelter.

A new women's dormitory is scheduled to begin in October. It will take the place of the old infirmary and science annex which are being moved south of the railroad tracks for storage. This dorm, also three-story and air-conditioned, will cost $850,000. Officials hope it will be ready to house 234 girls by the 1967 fall semester.

New Tennis Courts

The area behind the gym, the Academy football field, and the area on Blakeney Street now occupied by college-owned rent houses have all been appropriated for new construction. The Academy will play football on the college's Alumni Field. Two men's dormitories and eight tennis courts are planned for this area.

The library will also be expanded next year by the addition of two stories to the north side. This project will increase the library capacity to allow for some 2,100 to 2,200 students.

Besides the construction of these buildings this year, preliminary plans are being made for more expansion. We have only to look around us to see that Harding College is truly experiencing an explosion of growth.

Committee Okays SA Suggestions

The Student Affairs Committee, composed of several faculty and staff members, met during the summer to consider proposals made by the Student Association concerning several regulations. The results of that meeting follow.

Reception rooms in the women's dormitories are to be open from noon until 9:55 p.m. daily, provided someone is on duty at the desk.

Couples will be permitted to attend the theater downtown any night except Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

Much of the consideration concerned pledge week. Pledge week and homecoming are to be separated. Pledge week is to be moved to the tenth week of school. Preference sheets will be sent during the sixth week, but bids sent by social clubs are to be sent no earlier than 6 p.m. of the Sunday of the tenth week. Pledging is to be over by 12:00 midnight Friday of the same week. Formal initiation may be Saturday of the tenth week or Sunday of the eleventh.

'A Giant Has Fallen'

Many changes occurred on the Harding campus or concerning those at Harding this summer. Some of these changes were for the good of the school — such as the completion of the first wing of the boy's dorm — and some were possibly not so good and could not be helped — such as the loss of someone dear and important to everyone associated with the Harding community.

Robert T. Clark died of a heart attack July 7, running on a country road north of Searcy. A professor of biological science, Vice President in Charge of Research and coach of the cross-country team, Dr. Clark was well-known to most students. But they, as did few others, knew nothing of the heart condition he had kept secret for many years. His running is what kept him alive.

His regular exercise — over 30,000 miles in 14 years — preserved the flexibility of heart arteries which were gradually constricting. Doctors, in explaining the cause of death, estimate that his life was extended at least ten years by running.

J. D. Bales wrote an article on Dr. Clark which appeared in several Christian publications. He said:

"R. T. was a brilliant man, who rose high in his chosen field. He was among the top men in the world of space medicine and in research into the question of physical fitness. And yet R. T. was as common as an old shoe. He especially liked country people. He had grown up in the country and loved to associate with country people. In fact, I think he would have liked nothing better than to have been a farmer and lived close to the soil.

"Clifton Ganus pointed out that a 'giant had fallen.' He said that this was like a mile relay, that the race was not over, R. T. had passed the baton on to us, and that it would not be long until all of us would have completed our leg of the journey. We must pass the baton on to others."

installation in the world — 600 miles inside the Arctic Circle and closer to Moscow than Los Angeles.

We went into the Greenland Ice Cap — honest!! First they took us out to the three mile point on the trail to Camp Century, the city under the ice.

Then they took us into the Ice Tunnel — one of our most unusual tours. This tunnel is used for scientific experiments but it's also beautiful. This ice is frozen from pure water so is tinted a pale blue; the ceiling is covered with ice crystals that look like very fine filigree work.

Harding Students Attend Tahkodah Music Camp

Incoming Harding music students and a few upperclassmen met this summer Aug. 20 through Aug. 31 for Harding's 5th annual Tahkodah Music Camp near Batesville, Ark.

Directors Kenneth Davis and Eddie Baggett, music teachers during the school year, exposed about 16 of the group of 22 to their first college music program.

was over — it was the end of a wonderfully tiring show schedule for delightful audiences; the end of "hurry up and wait for the fog to lift;" the end of talking to lonely soldiers; the end of packing and unpacking and re-packing — but the wonderful memories of the smiles and tears on our soldiers' faces will never die.

New Teachers Added to Faculty; Fourteen Are Harding Alumni

Fourteen Harding alumni are among the 21 additions to the faculty for this school year.

Five of the new teachers are in English, with one of these also teaching sociology and Spanish. Three will be Bible professors, and the new French instructor will also assist in the Bible department. Two additions are in history, two in home economics, and one each in economics, education, biology, art, music, secretarial science, psychology and physical education.

James Ernest Arnold, instructor in English, is a 1965 Harding graduate. He received the M.A. in English at Vanderbilt University.

Karen Parsons Arnold, a 1964 graduate of Harding, completed the M.A. degree in the field of sociology also at Vanderbilt. She is an instructor in English, sociology and Spanish.

Donnie Berryhill, who received the M.A. from Texas Technological College, is an instructor in physical education. He is a 1962 Harding graduate.

Robert Carter Camp, instructor in economics, completed the M.A. degree also at Texas Technological College. He is a 1964 graduate of Harding.

Lowell A. Cook, who completed his undergraduate work as well as his graduate work at Abilene Christian College, is an instructor in history.

George Cooper, also an instructor in history, received his M.A. degree from Pepperdine College. He did undergraduate work at Stephen F. Austin College, Nacogdoches, Tex.

Jo Cleveland received both the bachelor's and the M.A. degree from Michigan State University. She is an instructor in English.

Jon Farris, a 1964 Harding graduate who is an instructor in English, received the M.A. degree from the University of Wisconsin.

William Wood Holloway, assistant professor of music, received the B.M.Ed. from Henderson State Teachers College, the M.Mus.Ed. from North Texas State University and has done work toward the doctorate at North Texas.

Lynn England, instructor in home economics with emphasis on child development, is also a Harding graduate. She completed the M.S. in home economics at the University of Mississippi.

Allan Lloyd Isom joined the faculty in June as assistant professor of Bible. He is a Harding graduate who received the M.R.E. and the M.Th. from the Harding Graduate School.

Jerry Lee Jones, assistant professor of Bible, graduated from Harding and received the M.A., M.R.E. and M.Th. degrees from Harding Graduate School.

Bula Moudy completed the M.S. at Texas Technological College. A Harding graduate, she is an instructor in home economics.

Don D. Robinson, a former faculty member, will be returning as assistant professor of art. His undergraduate degree is from Southwest Missouri State College and he holds the M.A. from Colorado State University.

Nyal D. Royse, former dean of Columbia Christian College, is assistant professor of education. He received the B.A. from Pepperdine College and the M.Ed. from the University of Portland. He has done work toward the doctorate at U.C.L.A. and at the University of Washington.

Gerald K. Stephenson, instructor in psychology, completed the M.A. degree at North Texas State University. He attended Harding for one year of his undergraduate work, but graduated from Abilene Christian College.

James Edward Williams, Jr., a 1965 Harding graduate, is instructor in English. He completed the M.A. degree at the University of Missouri.

George W. Woodruff, assistant professor of biology, holds the B.S. from Southwestern State College (Okla.), the M.S. from Oklahoma State University and the M.Ed. from the University of Oklahoma. He has completed course work for the doctorate at Oklahoma State.

Winfred Odell Wright is assistant professor of French. He holds the B.A. from Harding, the M.A. and M.R.E. from the Harding Graduate School and the Dr. de l'Universite from the University of Toulouse, Toulouse, France.

Harriet Storey Zarbaugh, also a Harding graduate, is an instructor in secretarial science.

James K. Zink comes to Harding as associate professor of Bible from the Graduate School faculty. A Harding graduate, he received the M.A. from Harding Graduate School, the B.D. from Cozier Theological Seminary, Chester, Pa., and the Ph.D. from Duke University.

SPORTIN' AROUND

BY TOM SIMMONS

A & M Predicted AIC First

Every season sportswriters around the country speculate on the football season's outcome and we will continue the practice started last year in the Bison.

Looking over the list of established stars returning to the AIC camps this fall, one would be foolish to see one team truly as a standout among the others. However, there are some teams that do look better on paper than others. From the looks of things here's how we pick'em to be stacked up at the season's end:

1. Arkansas A&M
2. Harding
3. Arkansas Tech
4. Arkansas State Teachers
5. Henderson
6. Southern State
7. Ouachita

ARKANSAS A&M—New coach Bill Calloway finds a few greats departed from last year's 5-1-1 championship team but he has some able replacements. Departed from last year's fine backfield are quarterback Don Murry and fullback Donnie Higgins. Phil Clem, a fine running quarterback from Malvern, is expected to step into Murry's place and Ronnie Sabbatini, a 190-pound cruncher from Lake Village will fill the fullback slot.

ARKANSAS TECH — Tech sports one of the finest if not the finest backfields in the conference. Heading the list is Robert Marley, the AIC's rushing leader of 1965. Marley toted the pigskin for 1,283 yards last season. At the quarterback spot will be R. E. Hodges a 155-pounder who can run and pass well. Danny Woodward, a soph letterman will man the other halfback slot and Wayne Scroczycki, 190, is the top fullback choice.

STATE TEACHERS — It's very hard not to pick State Teachers but graduation hit the Bears hard. Bobby Tiner, probably the best back in the conference and a possible little All-American choice, is back to quarterback the Teachers Squad. Many are picking the Bears on Tiner's return but with nine defensive straters departed another championship this year is not likely unless some miracles are achieved.

HENDERSON — The Reddies will have one of the AIC's best backs in Alan Tollet returning. Tollet collected 602 yards rushing in '65 and he will add the rushing punch that the Reddies will need. Riddled by injuries in past seasons, the Reddies will have to stay healthy if they are to improve. Bobby Agee heads the list of stars returning on the Reddie line.

SOUTHERN STATE — After a hot and cold season the Mulies are switching things around. Johnny Tune, a pass tossing quarterback, is no longer a signal caller. Tune will be moved to a linebacker slot and Stanley May rates the logical choice. May was one of the state's best at that position in high school. Back after a fine year is Travis Giles. Giles has hurt opposition badly with his pass snagging and he is expected to continue. The line is young but for the most part experienced.

OUACHITA — Graduation took Buddy Bob Benson's prize Tigers, some of the best in Ouachita's history. Benson will have to replace quarterback Frank Spainhour, end Jack Mills, halfback Charlie Williams and a host of others. To replace Spainhour Benson has Jim Jordan, one of the better punters in the conference. The speedy Jordan can pass as well as run making him a triple-threat. Johnny Johnson and Jim Hogan figuer heavily in the Tiger backfield plans.

We will also continue to pick each week's games throughout the year.

Football Season Opens Sept. 17 When MU of Rolla Is First Opponent

What could be the Harding football team's best season ever will open here Sept. 17 when the Bisons take on the Rolla Branch of the University of Missouri.

The Miners will bring a wide-open attack and young team with 22 lettermen off last year's squad that staggered to a 2-7 record. But UMR was outclassed in only two of those setbacks: tumbles of 27-0 and 40-12 to Carson-Newman and Northwest Missouri State.

None of the five top Tiger returnees, all of whom made honorable mention in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association, will be graduating this year, so the Tigers have plenty of time to develop. Halfback Richard Erxleben is a sophomore; the others are all juniors. All linemen, they are led by giant Tom Owens, a 6'3", 255-pound tackle.

UMR also picked up several high school standouts, and Coach Dewey Allgood says, "We are looking for a much improved season in '66."

Harding will have an experienced squad to try to improve on its 5-3-1 mark last season and fourth-place AIC finish. The Bison offense will again be led by Jimmy Howard, a junior halfback who may be switched to fullback. Jimmy gained 949 yards in nine games last year, was a unanimous All-AIC pick and made NAIA Honorable Mention All-American.

Defensive halfback Donnie Cox and offensive center Pete Henry, both seniors, also made All-AIC first team last season. Fullback Gail Mote, who graduated, will leave the biggest hole. Gail powered his way for 688 yards and, in the words of Coach John Prock, "He blocked for every yard Howard got."

Tackles Johnny Jeter and Mel Jernigan anchor the offensive line; the defensive front wall will be led by co-captain Roger Maddox, Dennis Manuel, Randy Terrell and Wayne Hodnett.
